

Method and apparatus for the conversion of rigid coaxial transmission line for broadband use.

Abstract

The invention disclosed herein comprises a method by which rigid coaxial transmission line may be made suitable for broadband applications. Sections of coaxial transmission line of varying lengths are inserted into an existing transmission line run. The lengths and placement of these sections is calculated according to this method.